AF ADVISORY AD HOC CLIENT BRIEFING REGARDING THE CLOSURE OF NATIONWIDE'S COMMERCIAL REAL ESTATE LENDING BUSINESS

Today, the UK's Nationwide Building Society announced that it will end all commercial real estate lending to new and existing customers ahead of a complete closure of its CRE business.

We have spoken to very senior staff members of Nationwide Building Society and were told, that:

- a. the current strategy is an orderly wind down of the existing book, but without extensions etc.
- b. given recent lending policies (typically 5 year loans) this would take several years
- c. Nationwide Building Society would look favourably on early repayments
- d. at present there is no plan to sell off the remaining loan book to a third party

At AF ADVISORY we have experience in transferring loans from one lender to another in a variety of circumstances. We have previously helped clients move away from other lenders, following their decision to cease their commercial lending operations.

While each loan is different our general advice is as follows:

1. Communicate openly with Nationwide Building Society about your needs and listen carefully to their response.
2. Be proactive in communications and negotiations. Nationwide Building Society still have a large and fully functioning team. As time goes on staff will move and the skill base will shrink making negotiations more difficult.
3. Seek early advice from experienced debt advisors, certainly not after speaking to all other potential lenders and receiving a "No". It is often impossible to change the decision, once a deal has been rejected by a lender.
4. Be proactive in seeking an alternative lender, ideally together with an experienced debt advisor. While Nationwide Building Society's current policy is to manage the loan book themselves, we at AF Advisory would not be surprised if Nationwide would at some point opt for a portfolio solution, as they have done previously.

Please feel free to contact us at AF Advisory if you are an affected customer. For regulatory reasons we are unable to advise on personal and small loans, but we are very experienced in all sectors of commercial loans including large residential portfolios in the UK and Continental Europe.
